How to read a recipe

Primary ingredients come from the Bishops' Storehouse order.

THE NUMBER

Every recipe has one, running from 001 straight through both volumes. The contents at the front of each book lists them in order with its page.

EFFORT

Easy No real cooking, or one pan and a few minutes.

Medium A hot stove and some timing, but nothing that can go badly wrong.

In-depth An afternoon, or a long slow oven, or a technique worth learning.

THE LINE UNDER THE TITLE

Servings, time, effort, and a nutrition score out of 100. Five things make it up: how much of the energy comes from protein (30 points, full marks at 45%), how many calories a serving carries (20, full marks up to 300), how much of the energy comes from fat (10, full marks at or below a tenth), how much sodium a serving carries (25, full marks to 300 mg and nothing left by 1,200), and how much fiber (15, full marks at 7 g).

Sodium and fiber are worked out from the ingredients rather than measured, in both volumes. Canned goods carry the salt; that is most of what the sodium figure is telling you.

It measures one thing only. A high score does not mean a dish is good, and a low one does not mean it is bad — a plate of fudge scores badly and is still fudge. Whether a recipe needs anything beyond the standard order is a separate question, answered on the line at its foot.

ALSO NEEDS

The line at the foot of each recipe. Either it says everything is on the standard list, or it names exactly what is not, so you know before you start rather than halfway through.

SERVINGS

Written for a household. Halving or doubling most of these is safe; baking is the exception, where the ratios are doing real work.

Temperatures and doneness

Colour is not a reliable guide. A thermometer in the thickest part is.

|          |                                                               |
|----------|---------------------------------------------------------------|
| 165°F    | Chicken and turkey, every cut, and anything reheated          |
| 160°F    | Ground beef and ground pork; egg dishes and casseroles        |
| 145°F    | Whole cuts of beef and pork, then rested three minutes        |
| 40–140°F | The range food should not sit in. Two hours out is the limit. |

Chicken is the one to be careful with. A crisp crust, clear juices or a long time in the oven are not proof it is done — thick breasts under a sauce take far longer than they look. Where a recipe cooks chicken, it says what to check for.

OVENS LIE

Most run hot or cold by a good margin. Check five minutes before the stated time the first time you make something, and write the real time in the margin.

Weights and swaps

One cup, level, unpacked unless it says otherwise.
